

hall of justice; and, in order to insure the strictest observance of the rules of evidence, and of legal procedure, the Chief Justice of the United States, the highest judicial functionary of the land, is required to preside over its deliberations. In the presence of each judiciary, the voice of fact is presumed to be silent, and the sentence of guilt or innocence is pronounced under the most solemn sanctions of religion, of honor, and of law. To such a tribunal does the Constitution authorize the House of Representatives to carry up its accusations against any chief of the Executive department whom it may believe to be guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors. Before that tribunal the accused is confronted with his accusers, and may demand the privilege, which the justice of the common law secures to the humblest citizen, of a full, patient, and impartial inquiry into the facts, upon the testimony of witnesses, rigidly examined, and deposing in the face of day. If such a proceeding had been adopted towards me, unjust as I should certainly have regarded it, I should, I trust, have met with a becoming consistency a trial as painful as it would have been undesired. I would have manifested, by a profound submission to the laws of my country, my perfect faith in her Justice; and, relying on the purity of my motives, and the rectitude of my conduct, should have looked forward with confidence to a triumphant refutation in the presence of that country, and by the solemn judgment of such a tribunal, not only of whatever charges might have been formally preferred against me, but of all the calumnies of which I have hitherto been the unresisting victim. As it is, I have been accused without evidence, and condemned without a hearing. As far as such proceedings can accomplish it, I am deprived of public confidence in the administration of the Government, and denied even the boast of a good name—a name transmitted to me from a patriot father, prized as my proudest inheritance, and carefully preserved for those who are to come after me, as the most precious of all earthly possessions. I am not only subjected to imputations affecting my character as an individual, but am charged with offenses against the country, so grave and so heinous as to deserve public disgrace and dishonour. I am charged with violating pledges which I never gave; and because I execute what I believe to be the law, with usurping powers not conferred by law; and, above all, with using the powers conferred upon the President by the Constitution, from corrupt motives and for unwarrantable ends. And these charges are made without any particle of evidence to sustain them, and, as I solemnly affirm, without any foundation in truth.

Why is a proceeding of this sort adopted at this time? Is the occasion for it found in the fact, that, having been elected to the second office under the Constitution by the free and voluntary suffrages of the people, I have succeeded to the first, according to the express provisions of the fundamental law of the same people? It is true that the succession of the Vice President to the Chief Magistracy has never occurred before, and that all prudent and patriotic minds have looked on this new trial of the wisdom and stability of our institutions with a somewhat anxious concern. I have been made to feel too sensibly the difficulties of my unprecedented position, not to know all that is intended to be conveyed in the reproach cast upon a President without a party. But I found myself placed in this most responsible station, by no usurpation or contrivance of my own. I was called to it, under Providence, by the supreme law of the land, and the deliberately declared will of the people. It is by these, the people, that I have been clothed with the high powers which they have seen fit to confer to their Chief Executive, and been charged with the solemn responsibility under which those powers are to be exercised. It is to them I hold myself answerable, as a moral agent, for a free and conscientious discharge of the duties which have been imposed upon me. It is not as an individual merely, that I am now called upon to resist the encroachment of unconstitutional power. I represent the Executive authority of the people of the United States; and it is in their name, (whose mere agent and servant I am, and whose will, declared in their fundamental law, I dare not, even were I inclined to disobey,) that I protest against every attempt to break down the undoubted constitutional power of this department, without a solemn amendment of that fundamental law.

I am determined to uphold the Constitution in this, as in other respects, to the utmost of my ability, and in defiance of all personal consequences. What may happen to an individual is of little importance; but the Constitution of the country, or any of its great and clear principles and provisions, is too sacred to be surrendered, under any circumstances whatever, by those who are charged with its protection and defence. Least of all should he be held guilty, who, placed at the head of one of the great departments, should shrink from the exercise of its unquestionable authority on the most important occasions; and should consent, without a struggle, to efface all the barriers so carefully created by the people to control and circumscribe the powers conferred to their various agents. It may be desirable, as the majority of the House of Representatives has declared it is, that no such checks upon the will of the Legislature should be suffered to continue. This is a matter for the people and the States to decide; but, until they shall have decided it, I shall feel myself bound to execute, without fear or favor, the law, as it has been written by our predecessors.

I protest against this whole proceeding of the House of Representatives, as ex parte and extra judicial. I protest against it as subversive of the common right of all citizens to be condemned only upon a fair and impartial trial, according to law and evidence before the country. I protest against it, as destructive of all the comity of intercourse between the Departments of this Government, and destined, sooner or later, to lead to conflict fatal to the peace of the country and the integrity of the Constitution. I protest against it, in the name of that Constitution, which is not only my own shield of protection and defence, but that of every American citizen. I protest against it, in the name of the people, by whose will I stand where I do, and by whose authority I exercise the power which I am charged with having usurped, and to whom I am responsible for a firm and faithful discharge, according to my own convictions of duty, of the high stewardship confided to me by them. I protest against it, in the name of all regulated liberty, and all limited Governments, as a proceeding tending to the utter destruction of the checks and balances of the Constitution, and the accumulating in the hands of the House of Representatives, or a bare majority of Congress, of the time being, an uncontrolled and despotic power. And I respectfully ask that this, my protest, may be entered upon the journal of the House of Representatives, as a solemn and formal declaration, for all time to come, of the injustice and unconstitutionality of such a proceeding.

JOHN TYLER.
WASHINGTON, August 30, 1842.

Mr. Wright needs not our praise. We can add no laurels to his chaplet. He has done his duty most nobly and most fearlessly. He has always been a favorite with our people, but his position is now higher than ever. New York will not alone speak her approbation of his course, but the whole northern States will feel they owe him a debt of gratitude inferior to that due to no statesman living.

Albany Argus.

We have lived to see one of the "WHIG MEASURES OF RELIEF" voted for by SILAS WRIGHT! Nor is this all. The Albany Argus, after twelve years of deadly hostility to a PROTECTIVE TARIFF, has been brought to confess that Mr. WRIGHT, in voting for this great measure, "has done his duty most nobly and most fearlessly."

This, so far as Mr. WRIGHT and the Albany Argus is concerned, is a triumphant vindication of a leading feature of our Policy. We have finally forced our enemies to unite with us in favor of a Law, which protects Domestic Manufactures and Home industry.—Albany Journal.

THE LAND OFFICE
Will be opened for private entry on Monday the 10th of October next.

AMALGAMATION.
The following from the Westmoreland Argus almost staggers belief, but there is no accounting for tastes:
"Lubly Rosa! Sambo come!
Don't you hear de banjo, tum, tum, tum!"
Married on the 27th ult., in the borough of Moutpleasant by the Rev. Simon Siegfried, Mr. JAMES POWELL, a large, strong smelling negro, to Miss RACHEL CAMPBELL, a handsome, neat, sweet smelling white girl!!!!

This marriage extraordinary was celebrated at ten o'clock at night, in silence, and secrecy. It was a deed perpetrated in darkness, and no mitigating circumstances detracts from its sabbath horrors.
It was a most mysterious transaction, and all connected with it have since been in very bad odor. Could the parson endure the operation without aid of Cologne water? Faugh! The imagination revolts at it.
"Oh! an ounce of civit, good apothecary!"

Extraordinary Tall Walking!!
On Thursday morning last, a walking match came off over the Fayette course, between B. F. Jeter's g. g. Grayhound by Gray Eagle, dam by Grapevine, 1
Josiah Fisk's br. g. Brokenbones by Bloody nose, dam by Bustle, 2
Time, something over 6 minutes.

The stakes were about fifteen dollars, which were won by Grayhound, beating Brokenbones about 150 yards.

Mr. Fisk attributes his defeat in some measure to the want of that energy with which he is usually inspired in the presence of the ladies, and in some degree to the slowness of his horse. The fine style of riding of Mr. Fisk, caused general admiration.

Rev. Messrs. Robinson and McAfee, and probably others of the Presbyterian Church, will hold a meeting in the College Chapel, in this place, commencing on Friday before the fourth Sabbath in September and continue three or four days.
